Texas Tradition Returns to the Skys Oct. 18-19

HOUSTON — The Wings Over Houston Airshow, one of the region's largest annual events, will return to Ellington Airport on Oct. 18–19, 2025. For more than four decades, the airshow has been a tradition for Houston and the surrounding communities, drawing families and aviation enthusiasts from across the world. This year's show will feature the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds, the two only airworthy B-29 bombers and a broad selection of modern and historic aircraft. Attendees also will be able to experience exhibits and interactive displays presented by aviation organizations and industry partners, including United Airlines, the show's exclusive airline sponsor. Tickets are available now at www.wingsoverhouston.com.

“Our goal each year is to celebrate both legacy and innovation—honoring the past while inspiring the future,” said Bill Roach, Executive Director of WOHA. “This year, we are thrilled to showcase two B-29s flying together, a rare and moving tribute to the aircraft that helped end World War II 80 years ago. Just as powerful, audiences will also see today's cutting-edge aircraft that continue to protect our nation. We can't wait to share a weekend filled with high-flying performances, engaging displays, and the incredible energy of our guests, performers, and volunteers who bring the airshow to life.”

The 2025 airshow will showcase hours of aerial performances, vintage aviation displays, interactive areas for children and adults, opportunities for guests to give back to the community, and more. Other special elements of this year's airshow include the Legends & Heroes tent and the Veterans Business Marketplace presented by Walmart.

"United is honored to be the official airline partner of Wings Over Houston. This airshow does more than light up the skies. It supports our veterans, inspires future pilots, and brings the Houston community together. As Houston's hometown airline, we are proud to be part of that mission and to reaffirm our commitment to the city we call home and the people who make it special," said Helon Hammond, Vice President of Global Learning, People and Community Impact, United Airlines.

In celebration of the upcoming show and in partnership with renowned aerobatic pilot Debby Rihn-Harvey, WOHA awarded $24,000 in scholarships to 10 Texas and Oklahoma high school and college students pursuing aviation careers earlier this summer. Each recipient will receive up to $5,000 to support their education and will be recognized on-site during the show.

In addition to the Thunderbirds and B-29s, the show will feature the RE/MAX Skydiving Team, Tora! Tora! Tora!, and a U.S. Coast Guard search and rescue demonstration. Static displays are set to feature the C-17 Globemaster, a United Airlines 737, and C-5M Super Galaxy, with more to be announced in the coming weeks. Gates open at 8AM and close at 5PM on Saturday and Sunday.
